Inside the animals are zentanglelike designs. The theme is of jungle animals for the most part. The paper is nice medium weight and the designs areon both sides, so markers most likely won't work well. This book could be colored as nature intended, or wild colorsof the gel pen variety.

See how nature changes in the light and the darkand add your own touches of beauty to this unique coloring book. What happens in the woods during the day . . . and in the night? What about in a garden? How do the landscapes and their inhabitants change? In this magical coloring book, Sara Muzio offers a double view of the same environment. Daylight images feature a white background, while night drawings appear on black. Each picture has rich and marvelous detail.

About the AuthorSara Muzio is a graphic designer and illustrator with a degree in Medical Illustration. She was the scientific illustrator for Lumen Edizioni, where she completed a postgraduate course on publishing and advertising graphics, and then became the graphic and packaging designer for Sambonet Paderno Industrie S.p.a. Sara now works as both a freelance graphic designer and as the Marketing Assistant for La Salute nel Sale, a halotherapy center in Italy. In addition to this book, she created the art for the Flower Fantasy and Hidden in the Jungle poster pads for Lark Crafts.
