Just haven't had time to try doing any, will soon.4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Excellent Resource GuideBy David OlandtThis book covered exactly what I was looking for. As a beginner glass etcher, the author explained how to make the engraving cuts and with what burring tips to use for the various cuts which proved an invaluable info for me. Also other techniques were covered as well as different types of glass products to use. Illustrations were very clear and precise. Overall an excellent guide for the beginner and intermediate user. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. goodBy Beckygood book

"Lucidly written and illustrated." The Glass Engraver If you've ever admired the exquisite beauty and craftsmanship of Steuben, Tiffany, Orrefors, or other fine engraved glass and wished you could engrave glass yourself, this book is for you. It provides step-by-step instructions for diamond-bur engraving, from making the first cut to displaying the finished work. The author, a prize-winning engraver, provides a detailed summary of tools and equipment you will need and suggestions for setting up your workshop, along with easy-to-follow practice exercises to give you a feel for working with glass and glass-engraving equipment. Mr. Graham then guides students through four complete projects, ranging from a simple tree design to a more complex flower engraving. Here are other practical features that make this book ideal for the novice: a useful discussion of design considerations and applications, review of supplemental tools and advanced techniques, expert advice on choosing glass, suggestions for the arrangement and lighting of finished pieces, and more. Over 100 helpful illustrations enhance the text. With this inexpensive book as your guide, you'll find learning the fundamentals of glass engraving far easier than you might have imagined. Simply written and easy to understand, Engraving Glass: A Beginner's Guide is your personal invitation to enjoy the challenges and satisfactions of this rewarding craft.
