Instead, the paper surface is like newsprint. My guess is that the publisher wants to give their books a 100% recycled paper look. Unfortunately, the photos don't print clearly. They look a bit blurry, and sadly that ruins some of the beauty of these really stunning floral arrangements.

This book series is for everyone who loves beautiful flowers for home, office, indoors and out. Here are creative, innovative, and easy ways to use whatever's in your garden today to create beauty and maximize the enjoyment of your garden. This volume covers July, August, and September. You'll enjoy owning all four volumes; each covers three months. The author created flower arrangements for every day of the year using only those materials available in her garden. This book will inspire you to do the same!
